Three Nations Told To Stop Aiding Red Raiders In Greece

By EDWARD CURTIS
Paris, Nov. 10 (P)—The United Nations political committee demanded in a vote by a big majority today that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia stop aiding guerrillas fighting the Greek government.

The 58-nation political committee also called on the three Balkan nations to settle their differences with Greece.

By a vote of 48 to six, the committee approved a detailed resolution on the Greek issue submitted by China, France, Britain and the United States. Russia and her bloc voted against the resolution. Representatives of four nations were absent or not voting. The committee previously had approved sections of the resolution, one paragraph at a time.

Among other developments of the day:

(1) Soviet Russia proposed that the Security Council order negotiations between Arabs and Jews to establish peace in Palestine. This was submitted as an amendment to a plan presented by the acting mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, to convert the uneasy truce into an armistice.

(2) The United Nations social committee wrote a provision for "freedom of thought, conscience and religion" into a draft declaration on human rights. The Russians had vainly proposed limiting the provision to a guarantee of freedom of thought.

During today's debate on the Greek question, Soviet delegate Alexandre Bogomolov said "the whole world knows that the United States' military mission is the real boss in Greece."

He said passage of the resolution endorses American interference in the internal affairs of Greece.

Hospital Fires 317 Employees In Strike

No Sign Of Settlement In Harper Dispute

Detroit, Nov. 10 (P)—Harper hospital, acting in the three-day-old walkout of an AFL employees union, fired 317 strikers today.

Along with its dismissal notices, however, the hospital offered reinstatement to all strikers provided they return to work before Monday.

Dr. E. Dwight Barnett, superintendent, sent out the notices and at the same time announced the hospital would accept applications for the vacant jobs.

Earlier Dr. Barnett had threatened to close the hospital before recognizing the union.

The strike entered its third day without a prospect of settlement.

A fact-finding panel named yesterday by Lt. Gov. Eugene C. Keyes presumably had given up peace efforts though it still planned to make an "unpublished report" to the acting governor.

No Welcome Mat Out For Wallace

By JACK BELL
Washington, Nov. 10 (P)—Henry A. Wallace will find the welcome mat gone if he makes any move to return to the Democratic party, National Chairman J. Howard McGrath said today.

Although he did not rule out absolutely the re-conversion of a repentant Wallace, McGrath told a reporter:

"So far as I am concerned, Henry Wallace has taken himself out of the Democratic party and he can stay out."

The national chairman added that the triumphant Democratic committee—its internal strife stillled by President Truman's smashing victory at the polls—"is making no gestures toward any fringe elsewhere."

Wallace has made no announcement of his future plans. Neither has he said what is going to happen to his Progressive party, which polled little more than 1,000,000 votes nationally.

But Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, Wallace's vice presidential running mate, told a reporter he thinks the Progressives will stay and see how Mr. Truman delivers on his campaign promises before deciding whether to disband or go ahead with their movement as Wallace had pledged in the last days of the campaign.

"The president stole our thunder in the campaign," Taylor said. "He practically adopted the Progressive platform and began promising to carry it out."

"I told a lot of people before the election that Harry Truman was going to get a lot more votes than most people thought. I could sense it among the Progressives who were saying to me, 'Do you suppose he means what he says?'"

"Well, we are going to wait and see how he carries out his promises. We are going to find out if he is as good at delivering as he is at promising."

Tropical Hurricane Whirls Up Atlantic To North Carolina

Miami, Fla., Nov. 10 (P)—Hurricane warnings were ordered hoisted from Cape Lookout to Cape Hatteras on the North Carolina coastline today as a small and unusually late tropical hurricane swirled toward the mainland with 75 mile an hour winds.

The Miami weather bureau warned that "every precaution should be taken on the North Carolina Capes."

It was expected to hit along the North Carolina coastline this afternoon.

The storm was located about 120 miles southeast of Wilmington, N. C. at 9:15 a. m. and moving northward at about 20 miles per hour.

Fishing In Sleep Draws Fine of $25

New Westminster, B. C., Nov. 10 (P)—A magistrate fined a fisherman $25 yesterday for fishing in his sleep.

Ed Simmons of Stevenson told Magistrate H. J. Johnston he set his net at 3 a. m. and set an alarm to awaken him at 5 a. m. The alarm failed to awaken him and a fisheries patrol found Simmons, still asleep and with his net still in position, at 7:50 a. m.—an hour after the fishing season closed.

The magistrate disregarded Simmons' plea that "there was no conscious violation."

Cadillac Man Dies In Fire; Scalp Cut

Cadillac, Mich., Nov. 10 (P)—An inquest was planned today in the death of Herbert Nolf, 40, whose body was found early yesterday under a bed in his fire-damaged one-room home.

Dr. F. B. Moore, coroner, said examination revealed a wound on the victim's scalp.

France Sees New Leader In DeGaulle

Fall Of Government May Be Next Development

Paris, Nov. 10 (P)—Premier Henry Queuille tried today to hold together his faltering government and there were reports he may meet next week with Gen. Charles DeGaulle.

Observers said Queuille wishes to learn how determined DeGaulle is to force the fall of the government.

DeGaulle, whose forces won about 40 per cent of the membership of the council of the republic, upper house of the French parliament, in balloting Sunday, has been advocating new general elections which he thinks would swing him back to power.

The Popular Republican party, a heavy loser Sunday, already has pulled two of its members out of the cabinet. The national council of the party votes this weekend whether to withdraw the rest of its members from the cabinet. Such an action would precipitate the fall of the government.

Queuille also must prepare the cabinet to withstand the shock of parliament's return Nov. 16.

Constant clashing between the upper and lower houses is almost inevitable. DeGaulle's French People's party will have a strong say in the upper house and observers say his aim will be to force dissolution of the lower house—the powerful national assembly.

Flint Firm Cleared In GOP Chest Case

Jury Acquits Car Dealer Of Illegal Donations

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 10 (P)—The federal government, unsuccessful in a similar case yesterday, called another Flint auto agency to trial today on a charge of contributing illegally to the Republican campaign chest.

Defendants this time were the R. & G. Motor Sales, Inc., and a former vice president of the firm, Peter Gavriloff.

They were charged specifically with violating the federal corrupt practices act by making a $500 contribution to the Michigan GOP in 1946.

A jury of seven women and five men took only a little over an hour yesterday before acquitting the Lippincott Motor Sales, also of Flint, on the same charge. Also freed were Harry L. Woodin, president of the firm, and Mrs. Blanche M. Lippincott, its secretary-treasurer.

The government, through U. S. Attorney Thomas P. Thornton, sought to prove that the Lippincott agency attempted to conceal a $500 kick-in to the GOP by attributing a check for that amount to operating expenses.

Thornton, using two FBI agents as witnesses, contended that the agency wrote one check to the Republican state central committee, then scrapped it and wrote another for cash which went to the party.

The defense, calling no witnesses, argued that the government had not proved the money reached Republican coffers.

Ten-Room Mansion In Lansing Leased By Governor-Elect

Lansing, Nov. 10 (P)—Governor-Elect G. Mennen Williams announced today he had leased the 10-room home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Severin Jean at 213 West Main street, Lansing, as an executive mansion.

Negotiations for the lease were made by Marguerite R. Moore, executive secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee and Robert D. McCabe, former executive assistant to the state Democratic chairman, both of whom are now associated with a Lansing Realty company.

It was expected that the Williams family would move into their new home about Dec. 1. The governor-elect's new address is within a block of the Barnes home, proposed as a state-owned governor's mansion.

Superforts Leave For Alaskan Tests

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 10 (P)—A flight of five B-50 super superforts headed today toward Alaska where the crew will undergo Arctic tests.

The planes took off from Davis-Monthan air force base with Col. Delene E. Bailey, commanding officer of the 43rd bombardment group, leading the 2,600-mile flight to Eielson air force base near Fairbanks, Alaska.

During the tests, each of the crews will participate in survival procedures and navigation and bombing problems. Each crew will spend a week afloat on Arctic ice packs, base officials here said.

They are expected to encounter temperatures of from 30 to 40 degrees below zero. The group will remain 45 days.

RICH WELL STRUCK
Lansing, Nov. 10 (P)—A new wildcat oil well which blew in near Mt. Pleasant last week and opened speculation of a new oil development has a potential flow of between 1,000 and 3,000 barrels of oil a day, the state conservation department said today. It is the first new well in the area in three years.

Government Gives Fresh Ammunition To Labor Demands

Fourth Round Increases Begin To Bloom

By NORMAN WALKER
Washington, Nov. 10 (P)—A government report that wages still are lagging behind prices gave unions fresh ammunition today for their fourth round pay boost offensive.

The new wage demands already are developing. The AFL recently called for worker-employer cooperation to step up productive efficiency and cut costs to clear the way for pay raises without new price hikes.

And an industrial relations research firm has just reported that "a few fourth round buds are beginning to bloom." This firm, the National Foremen's Institute, said a survey of 600 newly negotiated labor contracts showed an initial pattern of about 9 1/2 cents an hour more.

Advances Canceled

The first three postwar pay increase rounds averaged out at about 18 1/2 cents, 15 cents and 11 cents an hour, respectively.

The labor department's bureau of labor statistics said in its report today that wage rates for factory workers have jumped 43 per cent since V-J day but price increases have "largely cancelled out the advance."

However, the actual pay received by factory workers—as distinguished from their pay rates—increased an average of 30 per cent a week and 33 per cent an hour in the three years since Japan surrendered.

Jury Frees Wife Of Murdering Her Ex-Lifer Husband

New Orleans, Nov. 10 (P)—A 12-man jury has freed Mrs. Edna Grace, 39-year-old blonde, of charges of murdering the husband she married while he was life term in prison.

The defendant, attired in black, sat throughout the second day of the trial in criminal district court yesterday, with hankiechief tightly knotted in her hands.

She faintly when the jury returned its verdict after one hour and 10 minutes of deliberation.

The state had accused her of firing a bullet into the neck of her husband, William Grace, during a birthday party for her the night of Aug. 19.

Assistant District Attorney Charles Janvier produced witnesses who testified the shooting came after Grace threatened to leave her. She claimed the shooting was accidental.

The couple received widespread publicity when they married at the Angola State penitentiary where Grace was serving a life sentence as a fourth offender. Mrs. Grace helped him in having his life sentence commuted.

Barkley And Truman Talk About Shirts

Cabinet Shifts Brewing At Florida Retreat

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Key West, Fla., Nov. 10 (P)—Senator Alben W. Barkley's arrival at President Truman's southern vacation retreat stirred renewed speculation today of important decisions ahead.

The only word that came from temporary White House headquarters, however, had to do with the weather and open-neck Irish linen sports shirts.

GOING TO MOSCOW?
Key West, Fla., Nov. 10 (P)—Reports out of Moscow that President Truman is considering a trip there to talk with Premier Stalin puzzled White House aides today.

Eben Ayers, assistant presidential press secretary, had no comment on the Russian dispatches.

From that that was told officially, the top running team of 1948 had nothing more on their minds than a romp at the beach and a snooze in the sun.

And Leslie L. Biffle, the director of the Senate Democratic political campaign, said:

List Of Lame Duck Pensions Stays Hidden

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Nov. 10 (P)—A "confidential" label today hid from public view the full list of 80th Congress "lame-ducks" who will draw federal pensions.

Officials in charge of the records said the orders to keep them confidential came from "higher up," House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts said he did not issue the order but understood that as a matter of tradition the names were not to be made public.

When the first and only list of pension applicants was made public Jan. 9, 1947, by the House sergeant-at-arms, several members whose names were on it complained.

Losers Cash In
From that list, though, it is known that a large number of men who were defeated last week or in earlier primaries, or who retired voluntarily, are eligible for the payments Congress voted its members under the pension act of 1946.

Just how many of the approximately 100 senators and representatives defeated or retired this year applied for pension participation after January, 1947, is being kept secret.

The rate of pension varies. Generally it amounts to two and one-half per cent of the average annual pay rate multiplied by the number of years of service. There is a top limit of three-fourths of the annual pay at the time of retirement.

To be eligible for a pension, a member must have served at least six years in Congress and be at least 62 years of age. His annual contribution is six per cent of his salary—now $12,500 a year.

Many of those defeated this year are ineligible, either because of too short a service period or because they are too young. However, if they have paid in and have the required six years, they can wait until they are 62 and receive a pension.

By making back payments, Congress members can receive pensions for their entire period of service. These payments are the same as those required from other government workers, ranging from an original two and one-half per cent to the current six per cent.

One congressional official said the contribution would average about five per cent, and in the case of a 30-year man would call for a total payment of roughly $15,000. This would entitle him to a pension of slightly over $7,500 a year.

Starvation Stalks In Chinese Capital As Americans Flee

Brush Fire Danger Over In California

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Nanking, Nov. 10 (P)—Emergency flights of American dependents left China's rioting capital today as starvation stalked ahead of advancing Communists.

First to go were expectant mothers from the U. S. advisory group. They were flown in Air Force and Marine planes to Tsingtao, U. S. Far Eastern naval base. Most of the 500 Nanking dependents will go aboard the Navy hospital ship Repose.

Armed Forces Boss On Trip To Europe

Washington, Nov. 10 (P)—The civilian boss of the United States' armed forces was due in Europe today.

There, it was announced, Secretary of Defense Forrestal will talk with American officials at Paris, Frankfurt, Berlin and London, including Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany.

And there seemed no reason to believe he would pass up any chance to confer with officials of other friendly governments in Europe where this country has a high military stake.

Forrestal's visit to Clay assumed special significance in the light of the general's conference Monday with Viscount Montgomery. The British field marshal is chairman of the military committee of the western European alliance.

The formal announcement of Forrestal's trip said he would "discuss problems affecting the national military establishment" with American officials in Europe. And any development concerning military aid to the western alliance is directly related to problems of the American military establishment.

Looming large is the question of how much and what kind of arms the United States can supply the western European nations to help them guard against aggression.

Big Industries Go Back To Germans

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 10 (P)—The vast German coal, iron and steel industrial in the bizonal area will revert to German ownership in the "near future," the British and American control governments announced today.

"The military governors, however, are retaining a certain control of powers," the announcement said.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay is the American military governor in Germany and Gen. Sir Brian Robertson is Britain's top occupation official.

The industries, including those of the Ruhr, have technically been owned by the military governors since the end of the war.

New German companies will be established to operate the companies, subject to these stipulations:

1. There will be no "excessive concentration of economic power."

2. Persons who "permitted and encouraged" the Nazi party will be banned from positions of ownership and control.

3. The drastic reorganization shall not prejudice a possible future decision by a German government as to whether the industries will be socialized.

Big Mutue's Ring Broken In Detroit; 16 Pleading Guilty

Detroit, Nov. 10 (P)—Sixteen members of the "Lucky Star" mutuels ring, which police estimate cleared $7,000,000 a year, pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiracy to violate the state gambling law. They will be sentenced Dec. 1.

Police started breaking up the ring April 15, 1946, when they became suspicious of the source of money used for the defense of Frank Loboaldo in the rape of a six-year-old girl.

Two of Loboaldo's brothers were found then to be ring leaders of Lucky Star, according to police. The pair, Joseph, 34, and Sam, 32, were among those who pleaded guilty.

Brush Fire Danger Over In California

Santa Ana, Calif., Nov. 10 (P)—The worst appeared to be over today in a brush fire which threatened some 350 homes and caused evacuation of 1,500 persons 50 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

Subsiding winds helped hundreds of fire fighters, who beat the flames back from a village in Silverado Canyon in the Santa Ana mountains.

Residents of the community of Silverado and nearby Modjeska Canyon were safely evacuated Monday when gales whipped up a fierce fire in half a dozen smaller, unpopulated canyons.

Yesterday flames roared atop a ridge between Ladd and Silverado Canyons. In several places the fire burst down the Silverado slope. But luckily the wind shifted and died down, enabling weary fire crews to halt the flames 100 yards from Silverado village.

Not a single house in the village was burned. However, officials said an isolated cabin or two may have been caught.

Last night fire fighting officials said the situation was holding without change. State Forester Joseph Scherman said that with good luck in a day or so they might call Silverado safe.

Supervisor Hamilton Pyles of Cleveland National Forest said the active fire front had been reduced to five miles, from Monday's 18.

The officials said approximately 1,000 acres of brush and range land have been blackened—18,000 this week added to 28,000 in a fire in the same area last week.

Leaves To Be Picked Up Only Within Next 3 Days, Holmes Says

Escanaba residents are requested by Joe Holmes, superintendent of the Escanaba department of public works, to take their leaves and pile them at the street curbing within the next three days.

"The department will pick up leaves only within the next three days," Holmes advised.

"After that time, no pickups will be made and the leaves will only freeze, clutter up the streets and prove a hindrance to keeping the streets clear and open in the wintertime.

HEADS C-C—Carl G. Nelson, assistant to the president of the First National Bank, has been elected president of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce for the ensuing year at a meeting of the Chamber board of directors held yesterday. He succeeds Denis McGinn. Other officers are Grover Lewis, first vice president; Carl J. Sawyer, second vice president; and William Warmington, treasurer.

Local Legionnaires Observe 30th Year With Dinner-Dance

All veterans of the Escanaba area are invited to observe the thirtieth anniversary of the Escanaba Cloverland post, American Legion, by attending an Armistice day dance at the Legion club-rooms on Ludington street tomorrow night, beginning at 9:30.

Members of the local Legion post and auxiliary members will attend an anniversary dinner at the post at 6:30, and the dance will follow. The detailed program of the anniversary meeting will be announced later.

Cloverland post No. 82 was officially organized shortly after Edward Moersch returned from an exservicemen's meeting in St. Louis in May 1919, at which time the national American Legion organization was formed. First officers of the local post were Walter Janson, commander; Edward Moersch, finance officer; Dr. Harry J. Defnet, post adjutant, and Rev. Fr. Dooley, post chaplain.

The first meeting was held on the steps of the present city hall, and subsequently monthly meetings were held in the city hall chambers. In Jan. 1920, James Frost was elected post commander, and the meeting place was changed to St. Joseph's hall. The following year under Elmer St. Martin, the group moved to the Eagles hall.

Much progress was made under Dr. John J. Walsh's direction, and it was in May, 1923, that the Legion procured its own quarters, formerly occupied by the Escanaba Athletic club, 615 Ludington street. Two years ago the Legion acquired its present club at 716 Ludington street.

Members whose names are on the original charter are Walter C. Jansen, Edward L. Moersch, William J. McCauley, M. Vande Gregon, George McCarthy, Charles Wood, Francis G. Harris, Joseph P. Kenneally, Jr., Harris McCauley, Guy Sullivan, Andrew J. Perrin, Joseph Perron, Jr., L. A. Stude, C. L. North, John Mitchell, Arthur Pudvin, James Frost, William Campbell, John Flemming, Leslie Goddard, T. F. Kessler, C. J. McGillis, C. F. McCauley, H. H. Hughtitt, John Peller and William Ehnerd.

Next year will be a banner year for the Escanaba post, for it was named the site of the 1949 Upper Peninsula American Legion convention at the business meeting held during the 1948 convention in Ishpeming.

All Legionnaires and veterans are urged to participate in the thirtieth anniversary celebration here tomorrow night.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of Escanaba will join with the American Legion in commemorative services at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

'Keep America Strong' Is Theme Of Armistice

Armistice Day programs throughout the nation on November 11 will underscore the importance of keeping America militarily strong in order to prevent another world conflict, M-Sgt. Theodore A. Rix, Escanaba recruiting officer, announced today.

Although there will be many Armistice Day activities at the national level, he said, the major part of the annual observance will be conducted in the cities and towns of America.

Many patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations will sponsor special community programs, as will many of the new civilian Military Manpower Committees now organized in every Army Area in the United States. There are now more than 600 of these committees.

As in past years, these programs will honor the men who died for their country. A salute also will be given on this anniversary to the members of the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard who, at home and abroad, are helping to preserve the peace.

The equipment is an apparatus consisting of a series of horizontal and vertical bars, popular with children for climbing.

A similar installation is planned at the Royce playground with funds provided by the Escanaba Kiwanis club.

Constitution May Still Be Revised

DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL Peter E. Bradt has reported that the majority vote cast in favor of calling a constitutional convention in last week's election was sufficient to carry the proposal. The opinion reverses the theory previously taken by the state legal authorities and conceivably may open the way for a court fight on this issue.

The attorney general's office has indicated that if a formal opinion is requested, Bradt's idea would hold. As Gov. Sigler has urged a constitutional convention, it is not unlikely that he will ask for an opinion from the attorney general.

The provision for calling constitutional conventions is somewhat ambiguous. It refers to a requirement of a "majority of such electors voting at such election," referring to the general election of 1926, each sixteenth year thereafter and "at such other time as may be provided by law." Whether the reference is to a majority of the voters who cast a ballot on any issue in the election or simply to a majority who voted on the constitutional convention issue is the point in dispute.

Bradt points out that it is all but impossible to determine how many people actually voted in the election and indicated a belief that a majority vote on the issue itself should be enough to warrant calling the convention.

In the event that it is decided to proceed with plans for a constitutional convention, three delegates would be chosen from each of the state's 32 senatorial districts in the 1949 spring election. They would convene on the first Tuesday in September, 1949, and continue sessions until the business of the convention is completed. The business of the convention, of course, would be the entire redrafting of a new constitution for Michigan to replace the present constitution written in 1908.

Conserving Purchasing Power

JAY D. RUNKLE, chairman of the Board of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, recently spoke of "three important areas in which manufacturers and retailers must work together to attain the efficiency and harmony needed in this next period of our economic life."

First, he said, there should be an even better understanding of consumer wants—along with ways and means of increasing and expanding those wants.

Second, products must be produced and distributed as economically as possible.

Third, we must work together to acquaint consumers with the merits of those goods and stimulate their interest in buying them.

This, in brief form, sums up the basic ideas which underlie the American system of mass production and mass distribution of commodities of all kinds. American retailers and manufacturers, for example, usually work on a lower margin of profit than do their counterparts in any other country. That is possible because enormous volume results in adequate total earnings even though the profit on each individual sale is so small as to barely affect the selling price to the consumer. And that is one of the big reasons for the high purchasing power of the typical American family.

Elsewhere in his talk Mr. Runkle said that "America was made great by producing more for less cost." That is still the goal of every intelligent producer and seller of goods. And that is why retailing, paced by the chain stores, along with other major elements in economy, is fighting aggressively against unbridled inflation.

Clarifying The Issue

THE U. S. supreme court has agreed to rule on the constitutionality of the non-Communist affidavit requirement of the Taft-Hartley labor act. Even though the Taft-Hartley act itself is under attack and may be drastically revised by the new Congress, it is well to get a legal clarification of the non-Communist provision of the act now.

Most of the opposition to the non-Communist feature of the Taft-Hartley act has come from left wingers in the labor movement, although admittedly the opposition has also attracted such men as John L. Lewis, himself a non-Communist. If the high court sustains this feature of the act, it is certain that there will be considerable support for retention of the non-Communist clause, even among those who feel that other revision of the law is desirable.

Communist encroachment into our labor unions has been one of the principal sources of Communist power in this country. The non-Communist provision of the labor act struck a telling blow at this problem. The rank and file of American workers in every division of labor is preponderantly patriotic and dislikes the idea of being led by men whose hearts are in Moscow. If the provision in the present law is not constitutional, it is well to know that now.

If the court holds that it is legal, it will provide a strong weapon for those who believe in its retention as an effective weapon against Communists.

De Gaulle Gains In France

THE RESULTS of the election for seats in the upper house of the French parliament show conclusively that the people of France are turning against Communism. The Communist party emerged from the election with a staggering defeat, losing more than four-fifths of their seats in the council of the republic. The new party of Charles DeGaulle scored a sweeping victory.

The upper house of the French parliament has limited power in French government, however. DeGaulle sought to get control of the council as a means of forcing a general election, from which he believes he could emerge as the new leader of France.

In appraising the results of the French election, however, it should be noted that the swing is from the extreme left to the extreme right. It is generally conceded that DeGaulle seeks to become the strong man of France, to play the role of dictator on a purely nationalistic program.

The unstable economic condition of France and the shakiness of the present French government have combined to turn the eyes of the people towards DeGaulle. If the choice is only that of dictatorship by Communism or dictatorship by DeGaulle, France will take DeGaulle.

SALUTE TO DEWEY (Sault Ste. Marie News)

The Evening News has congratulated President Truman. Now it wishes to salute Governor Dewey who in defeat gained stature as a citizen, father and statesman.

The defeat was tough on him, his loyal family and his friends. He had been led to believe victory was certain. He lost and he has had a firm "no" to questions as to whether he would run again.

Friends of Dewey find it hard to believe Dewey will retire to private and obscure life, never to run for public office again. He is only 46. His career has been meteoric. He has thrived on combat in the political ring, and he is not the first to taste defeat. In every presidential election someone had to lose, lose not only to his opponent but to the temper of the times.

Henry Clay, who once said, "I'd rather be right than president" was a presidential aspirant from 1824 to 1848 and died unreconciled at 76. William Jennings Bryan was a candidate three times and willing to be "drafted" again.

If he does not run again, Dewey will get a lift always from the memory that more than 20,000,000 people voted for him in 1948 and that not only his wife and family stood by him through two heart-breaking defeats but that his friends did likewise.

Michigan is still proud of a son who made good.

MEMORINEE VOTES 'NO' (Marquette Eagle-Star)

If the Menominee city council accepts the mandate of the voters in the advisory referendum, Menominee will not go on daylight time next spring and the confusion of Marquette operating on central standard time and Menominee an hour earlier will be avoided.

The proposal for daylight time carried in only one precinct, but the vote against fast time was by no means overwhelming. It was defeated by a margin of only 192 votes in a total vote of 4,444.

Farther north in Michigan, at Escanaba, the situation was reversed and offers an object lesson to the legislators of Wisconsin who have traditionally opposed any effort to eliminate from the statutes the law which provides no Wisconsin community or business may operate on fast time.

The vote in the City of Escanaba was in favor of the city operating on eastern standard time the year around, though the proponents won by a margin of only 736 votes in a total of 12,106. The surprise, however, came in the rural precincts, the results of which Wisconsin legislators might take note. The rural precincts voted even stronger than the City of Escanaba in favor of eastern standard time, the final tabulation showing 2,277 rural residents in favor of it and 1,117 against it.

There is no place like home if the place is home-like.

Take My Word For It

Frank Colby

WHAT IS THE ORIGIN?

Q. Every day we see and hear the word protocol in news dispatches. What is the story behind the word?—F. M.

A. It's an interesting story indeed. It goes back some 1500 years when Justinian was emperor of the Byzantine empire.

First of all, however, protocol began as the Greek word protokollon, meaning "first glued on," from protos, "first," plus kollon, "glue."

The term protokollon was given to a first leaf glued on to a manuscript in order to register the contents and by whom it was written—it was a sort of fly-leaf. During his reign (527-565), Justinian decreed that manuscripts were to be identified by such glued-on leaves.

When the word entered French as protocol, it meant the first or original draft of a document or deed. Later, protocol, the English spelling, designated a preliminary memorandum of an agreement or treaty between representatives of negotiating governments.

Still later, protocol came to mean the body of rules for conducting affairs of state, hence the customs and regulations dealing with the ceremonies and etiquette of the diplomatic corps and others at a court or

What Did People Say In Election?

BY PETER EDSON

Washington, (NEA)—What did the people say in the election? Some of their sayings may be sign language on which there will be conflicting interpretations. But among the things which the election results seemed to say, there may be listed these:

The people said they like the New Deal reforms. Any idea that Harry Truman won because he campaigned far to the left of what he himself thinks privately, may be wrong. For a reference point on that, go back to Harry Truman's 1946 budget message in which he outlined a 21-point program of increased social welfare and better living conditions for all the people. He has stuck consistently to that.

The people said they don't want a reactionary Republican government. This does not necessarily mean that the Republican party is dead. More likely it just means that the people think the Republicans made their mistake at Philadelphia last June, when they chose the candidate with the best political machine instead of the best candidate.

The people said they don't like a candidate who is too cagey, too cozy, too smooth. The people said they like a scrapper. They like an underdog who is inclined to put up a good fight. The people said they like a man who is honest, even if he is sometimes wrong. The people said they preferred a candidate who told them frankly just where he stood on every issue.

PEOPLE REJECTED COMMUNISM

The people said they wanted nothing to do with communism. They said that in their repudiation of Henry Wallace, Leo Isacson, Lee Pressman and their so-called Progressive party.

They also said they were suspicious of "Wall Street," of big business that made too much profit. What the people said they wanted was a middle of the road course—a sane private enterprise system with plenty of freedom for the individual, but with a government-regulated economy in case business could not or did not regulate and curb itself sensibly.

The people said they wanted something done about high prices and inflation. They did not necessarily say that they want full wartime price controls and inflation. But they apparently believe that doing something—even if it turns out to be the wrong thing—is better than doing nothing. You get confirmation of that in such things as the election of ex-GOP administrator Chester Bowles as governor of Connecticut.

The people said they didn't like the record of the 80th Congress. The people didn't like what the 80th Congress did not do about such things as expanding social security coverage, increasing the minimum wage level, taking care of public housing. The people didn't like what the Congress did do about labor legislation. A majority of the people said they were willing to have the Taft-Hartley Act repealed. President Truman so pointedly made that an issue of the campaign that there can be no doubt about it.

A vast majority of the people said they wanted a civil rights program enacted and they want it enacted for the whole country, not just parts of it.

The people said they were for the Marshall Plan. They said so eloquently by such things as the defeat of Republican isolationism.

PROOF THAT DEMOCRACY WORKS

There are many fine clean things like this about the last election. They leave a pleasant taste in the mouth. They tend to prove that this thing called democracy works. Just tell the people all the facts, and they will instinctively decide what is the right thing to do.

The marvel of the election is that this thing called democracy—the American system of having a revolution every four years whether the country needs it or not—works better than most people realize. Many of the people who went to the polls to vote for Truman and his party did so with misgivings, not expecting that their votes would do any good. But they voted their convictions. And just look at the result.

The people voted with their heads. They split tickets all over the ballot. The element that threw the election to the Democrats, the element that threw the professional poll-takers for a loss, was the nine per cent of the voters who were "undecided" on how they would vote until the last minute. They were the ones who went to the polls and kicked out the office holders they thought were no good, substituting candidates they thought better. That is where the people spoke loudest.

capital, or at such an affair as the United Nations assembly.

Recently, because of loose usage by political and other writers, protocol has come to mean merely good form or etiquette, not necessarily in matters of state or of diplomacy.

The correct pronunciation is: PRO-tuh-koll, the third syllable rhyming with doll.

Strangely enough, the word etiquette has a quite similar history. This French word originally meant "a label or tag fastened to a bale or box of merchandise, listing the contents and directions for delivery to the consignee."

Now the French pronunciation is: ay-tee-KETT. When the word was heard by the British, ay-tee-KETT was misinterpreted as "a ticket." Whereupon, a new word—ticket—entered English and came to mean what the French etiquette originally meant—a tag or label. Meanwhile, the French etiquette came to mean "rules for social conduct," and again entered English, this time retaining its proper meaning.

Seven More Lives to Go

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

BUT FEW REMAIN—Where are the farmers who once brought their produce to town in a wagon and went from door to door selling cabbage, potatoes, corn and green peppers? It seems a long time ago, and it probably is, since you could hear the clomp of the horses' feet, the rumble of the wagon on the dirt of the street, and the calls of the huckster.

Today in Escanaba there are only a few housewives who obtain farm produce direct from the producer. There is an occasional "egg man" who peddles from door to door, and sometimes in summer and fall a farmer brings potatoes and vegetables to town and drives along the streets offering them for sale. But the old-fashioned horse-drawn wagon is gone, and in its stead is a modern truck or auto. Somehow it is vastly different. The farmer seems more hurried and less inclined to chat and leave a little wholesome philosophy along with the green beans, the eggs and the cabbage.

BIG BUSINESS—Most farmers are now in big business—much too big to go from door to door peddling their produce. The farmer is a busy man. Most of his business is done with purchasers who, in a single transaction, can take his complete stock.

Many farmers are now specialists. They major in one or two crops—beans for the cannery, or dairying, or potatoes. A few have attained that ultimate in satisfaction, the two-farm system. In the summertime they farm in the Upper Peninsula, and in the wintertime they go to Texas or to Florida to raise citrus fruits or vegetables.

And there is the story of one Lower Michigan farmer who makes a comfortable living for himself and his wife from 80 acres of land with a minimum of farming. His winters are spent in Florida. At planting time he returns to put about 70 of the 80 acres into corn. Most of his summer is spent fishing in Northern Michigan and he returns to the farm only to cultivate the corn. Harvest time is spent on the farm then he sells his crop, and is off to Florida again in his trailer.

ROADSIDE MARKETS—The farmer-peddler has been replaced in part by the roadside market.

All over the country these markets have sprung up like beans after a spring rain. There the farmer can find an outlet for his produce at a price only slightly below that at which he would receive if he took the garden stuff direct to the housewife's door.

For it is a strange commentary on the American consumer that he will buy from a roadside stand and pay as high (sometimes a higher) price for fruits and vegetables as he would pay in town. There is the impression that he is buying more direct, that the produce is fresher, the prices lower.

FARMERS' MARKET—Another factor in the passing of the vegetable huckster is the farmers' market. These have become increasingly popular in many communities, although in some cities—including Escanaba—they are an institution of long standing.

Here the farmer does sell his

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Congressman John Luecke, Democrat, Escanaba, was trailing Fred Bradley, Republican of Rogers City, in the contest for representative of the Eleventh Michigan district. Returns from 258 out of 298 precincts in the district gave: Bradley 31,972; Luecke 29,383.

Newberry—Former Sheriff John Turnbull, Republican, lost by about 150 votes to Ernie Shaw, Democrat, in the contest for sheriff of Luce county in Tuesday's election.

State Senator James Dotsch, Democrat of Garden, was leading Wilfred Ranta, Republican of Sault Ste. Marie, by about 800 votes with 112 out of the district's 142 precincts reporting early today.

Twenty Years Ago

Joseph P. Kenneally Jr., of Chicago and Harold Kenneally of Pittsburgh have arrived to attend the funeral services for their father, J. P. Kenneally.

Manistique—Schoolcraft county's Democratic committee chairman Hon. J. Wesley Gilligan, feels somewhat gratified at the remarkable increase in Democratic votes in this county. The 883 votes cast for the Democratic presidential candidate is the highest on record.

Gladstone—Morris DeSmet of Detroit is spending the week with relatives here.

Escanaba—The board of county canvassers issued the following report on the votes cast for the two leading presidential candidates in Delta county as follows: electoral votes for Herbert Hoover 80,856; Alfred E. Smith, 81,120.

produce direct to the consumer, yet housewives generally agree the price is seldom below that for similar articles to be found in the established shops and stores. Bargains can be found there, however, and purchasers find satisfaction in dealing with the farmers. The fruits and vegetables are fresh-picked and succulent, tender and juicy. And it is here that folk from the farm and from the city meet to barter, to talk and trade, exchanging experiences and ideas as well as city cash for farm produce.

IN THE STORES—The vegetable and fruit counters in the food stores will reveal the reason why there are so few farm peddlers any more. For in most categories the food you buy at the local grocery today is fresh and new, almost as fresh as if it were just out of the garden. The farmer finds his best outlet through the grocer, eliminating the need for house-to-house calls, selling his produce outright to the dealer in one transaction. It saves the farmer both time and money.

BUT WITH REGRET—Still there is missed the once-familiar sight of the huckster's wagon, his plodding horse, and his loud voice calling out his wares. No longer does the housewife leave her kitchen—sometimes with arms still white with flour from her interrupted bread-making—to answer the peddler's call.

In her hand she carried a basket or pan, and in her apron pocket jingled the few coins she would exchange for quantities of tender beans, for new potatoes, fresh-picked apples, or lettuce on which still clung the morning dew.

The farmer of today is more efficient, more prosperous, and he has no time for peddling from door to door.

Roving Reporter By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—If you were born poor and homely, take heart, man.

A hundred years from now the scholars may be turning handsprings over you.

At least the most exciting literary rediscoveries of recent years have dealt with two men of genius who were regarded by their contemporaries as uncouth in appearance—or downright ugly. One was Abraham Lincoln. The opening of his long-sealed papers in 1947 still has historians astir. They expect them to throw new light on the Civil War era.

Letter Sells For $5,800
A single letter by the gangling, awkward Lincoln, who learned to read and write by firelight and rose from the log cabin to the White House, sold at auction here last April for $5,800.

Equally as dramatic as the opening of the Lincoln papers was the assembling of a lost treasure trove of literary material surrounding Dr. Samuel Johnson. It is the outstanding literary event of 1948.

It consists of literally thousands of papers left at his death in 1793 by James Boswell, whose monumental study of Johnson is the best known biography in all literature. They were lost for more than a century in the rubbish of castles in Ireland and England.

Scholars expect them to give a complete new picture of this golden age of England, over whose literary life Johnson ruled with an iron tongue.

Boswell Was Interesting
Johnson is only a dimly-remembered figure to most schoolboys. But to those who have taken the trouble to wade through Boswell's massive biography he is one of the most interesting men who ever lived.

He was a kind of Noah Webster, Dorothy Parker, Alexander Woolcott and H. L. Mencken rolled into one. And something more, too. But except for Boswell, who trotted at his heels for 21 years noting down everything he said, Johnson would be known today only as a minor poet, dictionary maker and literary historian.

For few people now bother to read what Johnson himself wrote. They read what Boswell says he said. Such as:

"Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel."

"Hell is paved with good intentions."

"A man of genius has been seldom ruined except by himself."

"The noblest prospect which a Scotchman ever sees, is the high-road that leads him to England."

"No man but a blockhead ever wrote except for money."

But the tart-tongued doctor's charm was purely conversational. Here is how he looked to Boswell at their first meeting:

"Mr. Johnson is a man of most dreadful appearance. He is a very big man, is troubled with sore eyes, the palsy and the King's evil (scrofula)."

But homely or not, Dr. Johnson, who came to London with nothing in his pockets but five cents and an unpublished tragedy, became the titan of his time—the "age of reason."

The furor over the discovery of his own papers and those of Lincoln would tickle the old lion. But this homely man of letters would be the first to hand the laurels to Lincoln, the homely man of deeds. Long ago he wrote:

"Words are men's daughters, but God's sons are things."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington. — President Truman's first cabinet meeting after the election was no backslapping affair. It was a sober, down-to-business, back-to-work session.

Only humorous note came as the stragglers were filing in, when Vice President-elect Elben Barkley told about an incident occurring at a Kentucky political rally. When the chairman announced there would be a two-minute wait before going on the air, someone piped up:

"I would like to take the two minutes to say a prayer for the Democratic party."

President Truman did virtually all the talking at the cabinet meeting and finished in less than fifteen minutes. He asked his cabinet to go to work on a future program which would put campaign promises into action. He said:

"I want you fellows to get your programs in shape for discussion immediately, because we've got to present them to Congress when it reconvenes."

Significantly the president gave no hint of firing anyone from the cabinet. He talked about his long-range program as if everyone present would take part. Only Secretary of State Marshall, now in Paris, did not attend. The men with the least to say was Dewey's friend, Secretary of Defense Forrestal, who didn't let out a peep.

UNION PACIFIC RUNS DEPARTMENT

Truman advisers were discussing changes in the state department. Donald Dawson of the White House remarked that Averell Harriman had been suggested as secretary of state.

Remarked Clark Clifford: "One Union Pacific man in four years is enough."

(He referred to Undersecretary of State Bob Lovett who embarrassed Truman so frequently during the campaign. Lovett is a partner in Brown Brothers, Harriman and Co., while Ambassador Harriman owns a large part of the Union Pacific.)

HE BET ON TRUMAN

One man who didn't go wrong on the election was Navy Chief Francisco Regacho, aide to Adm. Louis Denfeld. Regacho backed up his hunch on Truman with cash and won $1,500.

"I was in the Navy six years under the Republicans," explains Regacho, "and I couldn't get promoted beyond 1st class. But under the Democrats I got to be chief. Naturally I bet on my friends. Also I knew my boss, Admiral Denfeld, was for Truman."

PEARSON'S CAT

Now that the election is over and we can worry about other things, I am reminded that this is National Cat Week, and that, thanks to my friend, Bascom Timmons, I am chairman of National Cat Week.

Behind that shrewd political visage of his, Mr. Timmons has a tender heart and a fondness for cats. He promoted National Cat Week last year, and, without consulting me in advance, got me appointed chairman for 1948.

Perhaps I should admit, however, that it was not so much Bascom, but my cat Cinder that got me into this.

Cinder sits on my desk when I am writing a column and acts as unofficial censor. As far as I know she cannot read, but she has uncanny instinct. For when I leave a brickbat in the direction of Bascom's boss, Jesse Jones, Cinder purrs with pleasure.

But if I want to start writing anything critical about her friend, Harry Truman, she stages a sitdown strike on the paper and won't move until I pry her loose.

Cinder is pure black—hence her name. Actually Cinder belongs to my daughter. When she was a small kitten my daughter took such a fancy to her that she insisted on taking her away to school and kept her there for a term.

Later my daughter graduated to other things and has been kept busy with a husband and son, so I have inherited Cinder.

While I realize that some people don't like cats, I would like to call their attention to the fact that the No. 1 enemy of our grain crop is rats. If the rats in our farm areas were eliminated, enough grain could be saved to feed all the people who starve in China.

And in cities, the rats carry more disease and filth than most of us realize. So, even if you don't like cats, remember—this week and all other weeks—that they are one of man's best friends in counter-acting one of man's worst enemies.

CANADIAN AIR ARSENAL

The joint chiefs of staff in cooperation with the British have decided to make Canada the arsenal of the British Air Forces. Factories will be set up in Canada shortly to turn out jet bombers and transports plus a special Arctic jet fighter.

American aircraft companies have agreed to provide their technical "know-how" and help supervise production. Britain's famous jet fighters will still be made in England though later transferred in part to Canadian factories. As the first step in putting this plan into operation, Fairchild Aircraft will permit its noted transport, known as the workhorse of the airways, to be manufactured in Canada under a special licensing system.

MUSIC TEACHER EMPLOYED HERE

Former Clara Karas To Teach Part-Time

The Escanaba board of education in meeting last night approved the employment of Mrs. Richard Somers, the former Clara Karas of Escanaba, as instructor in string instruments in the grades and junior high school.

Mrs. Somers will work on a half-time basis and will receive $1,200 a year, or one-half of the annual $2,400 starting salary for new teachers. She is an accomplished violinist, played with the Lansing symphony orchestra, and is a daughter of the late Frank Karas, who taught instrumental music in Escanaba schools for many years.

The board received the resignations of John Oliver, of the junior high school custodial staff; and of Oscar Berglund, senior high school custodian. Romeo LaCasse was appointed to the junior high school custodial staff at a salary of $2,200 a year.

The attendance of Edward Edick, senior high school principal and Clarence Zerb, junior high school principal, to meetings of educators was approved by the board.

Because a number of teachers must leave Escanaba the day before Thanksgiving Day if they are to reach home for the holiday dinner, the board approved the closing of the schools on Nov. 24, 25 and 26. A similar arrangement was approved last year.

A request by the city recreation department to locate an ice skating rink this winter on school property west of the senior high building was approved.

Today in special meeting the board met with Lawrence Perkins of the Chicago architectural firm of Perkins & Will to receive information on the firm's work in designing school buildings. Two other architects have been given interviews by the board in connection with proposed plans for an Escanaba school construction program.

The Indian name for raccoon was "arakun", meaning literally "he scratches with his hands."

MUSIC TEACHER—Mrs. Richard Somers of Escanaba, the former Clara Karas, will serve as part-time instructor of string instruments in the Escanaba grades and junior high school.

Michigan to Give 100 Carloads Of Food For Europe

East Lansing, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Michigan goal for the Christian rural overseas program (crop) food drive is 100 carloads of food, state directors of the drive said here today.

William Cline of Chicago, assistant national field director, said the program is aimed at reaching 10,000,000 hungry Europeans who are not eligible for relief under the various governmental programs now in effect. The drive is backed by the Catholic Rural Life program, World Church Service and Lutheran World Relief.

The drive will operate primarily through the rural churches. Cash donations will be accepted but practically any kind of crop gift is preferred.

A "kickoff" dinner will be held at Michigan State college Nov. 23 to launch the drive in Michigan. MSC president John A. Hannah is state crop chairman.

LUXURY LINER IS REAL FANCY

Taxpayers Paid For Half Of Exeter's Cost

By ROBERT C. RUARK
New York—Went out the other day for a trial spin on our new yacht, a dashing little craft that is 473 feet one inch long, does 20 knots with the bone in her teeth, and cost a trifle over 4 million fish.

I say our yacht, even though her name is the Exeter, she belongs to American Export Lines, and is listed as one of the first, fancy postwar American passenger ships. She's part my ship, because the government paid for half of her and also advances her an annual operating subsidy. And you know who pays the government every March 15, since she's your yacht, too, I thought you might be interested in what you bought.

Our big boat is a quadruplet, one of four identical craft built by Bethlehem Steel, for American Export, designed for luxury travel in the Mediterranean. She might be called the ship of tomorrow, because she represents one of the first efforts to swipe some plush trade from the foreign liners, which up to now have collected most of the heart-throbs from the traveler.

We bought a pretty nice scow, as a matter of fact. She has been decorated fancily by Henry Dreyfuss, who, they say, is a large wheel in drape-and-breakfront business. She has carpets up to the knee, air conditioning pullman-type beds that a child can wind out of the walls, a capacious barroom and a dining room that looks like a nightclub. She has a swimming pool which is referred to as Gehan's washbowl, in honor of Export's vice-president, John Francis Gehan, and six kennels.

The doghouses are up on the bridge deck, just about the skipper's domain. Traveling pooches have little canvas cots more comfortable than the average wartime transport berths, are fed by a steward, and are not allowed in passenger cabins unless the mutt's owner is young, female and beautiful. In that case a tactful skipper may close his eyes to a rule infraction.

Our new ships carry a maximum of 125 passengers, all first class, and there are 124 men in the crew. The poorest-paid crew member gets $205 a month, plus overtime, plus food, plus air-conditioned quarters. The ships touch 10 ports 14 times in 45 days, including Marseilles, Genoa, Alexandria, Beirut, Piraeus, Leghorn and Boston, Mass.

There are six lifeboats, which work in practice as well as theory and the bridge is equipped with radar, gyro compasses and steering equipment, a kiddie fire-detection system and carbon dioxide fire-fighting apparatus which is controllable both from bridge and locally. There is a ship to shore telephone, which can be used from 50 miles out, and Muzak. The rugs in the lounge unzip, to provide dancing space. In addition to muzak there is a small Knabe piano.

Our ship runs very little, due to special ballasting. The lowest single fare is $850, for the round trip, and the highest single fare for a suite holding two people is $2240. Each blade in the stainless steel venetian blinds cost $12 each. Her master is Capt. Berndt Jacobsen, a handsome Norwegian who looks like a movie skipper.

The job of skipping these deluxers is awarded senior skippers with a talent for mixing with passengers. Apart from the chores of safe navigation, a passenger skipper must be tactful with cranky old ladies, a reliable cocktail controller, and skilful at fending off passes from impressionable young ladies come down with sea-sickness, or uncontrollable romance. He has the power of making marriages, throwing people into the brig, or shooting them, if the occasion demands.

Our new ship carries a doctor, a hospital, an operating room, and individual bathrooms for each of the 46 passenger cabins. Everything concerned with her operation is the responsibility of Vice-president Gehan, a personable Irishman who bosses all of Export's freight traffic, passenger traffic operations, industry relations and public relations. He is an authority, on Roquefort cheese, lobster, stirloin steak and all ports in the Mediterranean.

That is the rough rundown on our new vessel. I hope she plays to capacity, so she can start paying us back.

Better Telephone Service Promised In Rural Territory

The Michigan Bell Telephone company proposes to offer better types of service at attractive rates to areas, formerly rural in character but now grown into substantial residential developments, in more than 100 of its exchanges, including Escanaba.

The company, in a petition to be filed with the Michigan Public Service Commission Dec. 15, proposes to establish three new locality-rate areas here, according to George A. Marcouiller, manager.

In the areas, exchange-line mileage charges would be eliminated on urban-types of service, resulting in savings in monthly charges, he said.

Under the proposal, no change would be made in present rates paid by rural-line users in one of the areas, Marcouiller said.

Rural-line service would be discontinued in the other two locality areas, he said. Instead, customers would be offered urban-type services at an increase of 25 cents a month for residence users and $1.50 a month for business-line users.

There are 139 telephone users in the new locality areas. They total 425 square miles, two located north and one south of Escanaba. Included in the business establishments in the north area is the Escanaba Paper company which furnishes employment for a large number of residents in the area. The area to the south includes seasonal and suburban homes located along the shore of Green Bay.

The company proposed an extension of three-sixteenths square mile to the west and south of the base rate area at Bark River. The proposal would eliminate rural service in the extension when facilities become available. Users would be offered urban-type services. The change would not increase rates for present rural residence users but would involve somewhat higher charges for rural business users. Exchange-line mileage charges would be eliminated on urban-type services.

Army May Request Draft For Doctors

Boston (AP)—Congress may be asked to approve the drafting of Army doctors if voluntary enlistments do not provide sufficient medical personnel.

A spokesman for the Army's surgeon general said that Maj. Gen. Raymond W. Bliss had authorized this statement:

"If medical personnel sufficient to care properly for the health of the expanded Army does not come voluntarily, there will be no other recourse but to submit a bill to Congress to draft the necessary personnel."

The spokesman, who could not be quoted personally, made the statement in an interview at an American public health association meeting.

Vote On Amendment Starts Argument

Lansing, (AP)—Whether Michigan voters have called for a revision of the State Constitution was a moot question in the state capitol Monday.

Deputy Attorney General Peter E. Bradt says they have, Attorney General Eugene F. Black won't commit himself, and outside attorneys say the proposal failed State officials charged with starting the machinery if the question passed are marking time.

The question on last Tuesday's ballot asked the voters if they approved calling a constitutional convention next year. The vote at last report was: Yes, 659,853; No, 579,531.

However, the present constitution requires a majority of x x x electors voting at such election for passage of the measure.

It has been popularly supposed that this meant that election officials would have to total all the votes cast for governor, divide that by two, and if the "yes" votes on revision did not exceed the result, declare the revision defeated.

More than 2,000,000 voted for governor, and under this theory, more than 1,000,000 would have to approve the revision before it passed.

But Bradt says this is not what it meant. He points out that there is no real way to determine the exact number of voters in the election.

"Who knows how many people voted for county 'surveyor' and nothing, else, for instance?" He asks in substance.

Therefore, Bradt contends, the words "at such election" mean "at the election on the question."

Thus, he says, a simple majority such as was recorded on Tuesday means the question is adopted.

The flavous duck, named for its reddish-yellow coloring, is a night feeder, and consequently very little is known about the habits of this bird.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts ... figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Legal Notice of Application to the Michigan Public Service Commission by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company

In accordance with statutory requirements, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company will apply to the Michigan Public Service Commission in the city of Lansing on the 15th day of December, 1948, for authority to establish three Locality Rate Areas within the Escanaba exchange. The Company also will request the Commission to set a date for the hearing of the matter.

The proposed Locality Rate Areas would include the territory bounded as follows:

Ford River Locality Area

Starting at a point where the East Branch of the Ford River intersects the north line of Section 15, T38N, R23W; east to the shore of Green Bay; southwesterly along the shore of Green Bay to the Ford River; northerly along the east bank of the Ford River and East Branch of the Ford River to the starting point.

Groos Locality Area

Starting at a point where County Road 426 intersects the north line of Section 35, T40N, R23W; east to the west bank of the Escanaba River; southeasterly along the west bank of the Escanaba River to the east-west center line of Section 7, T39N, R22W; west to a line 1/4 mile west of and parallel to the east line of Section 12, T39N, R23W; north 1/4 mile; west on Road C-4 extended and Road C-4 to the intersection of Road C-4 with Road C-49; north to the starting point.

Within the above described areas it is proposed that subscribers to one, two or four-party line service would pay flat monthly rates as shown below. Those rates would be lower in each case than charges comprised of base rates plus mileage charges which otherwise would be applicable.

Preparation Of Wild Game Topic
Of MSC Bulletins

Hunters and housewives who are looking for tempting ways to prepare some of that game that is being bagged this fall will find them in two bulletins available without charge. They are published by the Michigan State college Cooperative Extension Service.

"Venison From Forest to Table", and "Good Eating From Woods and Fields" have been prepared in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Conservation.

The venison booklet also gives many helpful tips to the hunter. Sections are devoted to dressing out the deer, cutting up the carcass, a description of the cuts of venison, and cooking. A number of recipes tell how to prepare the meat by various methods. For hunters who wish to preserve some of their meat, further references are given for freezing, canning, salting, and smoking.

The meat of game and fur animals is the subject of the second bulletin. The hunter who sometimes discards his game or the housewife who refuses to cook game will find that with proper care, meat from game animals is tempting and delicious.

Recipes Are Simple

Recipes are given for preparing pheasant, wild duck, wild goose, rabbits, grouse, prairie chicken, woodcock, beaver, woodchuck, opossum, raccoon, muskrat, and squirrel. The recipes are simple enough for the inexperienced game cook to use with success.

Copies of the bulletins may be obtained from county agricultural agents' offices or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing. Ask for extension bulletin 252, "Good Eating From Woods and Fields", and extension bulletin 253, "Venison From Forest to Table."

Tradition Will Surround Birth
Of Royal Baby

By EDWARD L. CAMPBELL

London, Nov. 10 (AP)—The birth of Princess Elizabeth's baby, expected this weekend will be as unceremonious as royalty can manage to make it.

But traditions that die hard in this land of long memories will see to it that the general public gets a good show of pomp and circumstance.

As the day approaches for the arrival of a second-in-line heir presumptive to the throne, excitement is mounting in London.

When the news is flashed to the world, Londoners from the Cockney east end to swank Mayfair can be depended upon to stage one of those mass turnouts that demonstrate the popularity of the Royal family.

King George VI has tried to tone down the event. That was made clear in his unexpected decision to dispense with the "Archaic Custom" of having the home secretary come to the palace to "witness" the royal birth.

Telephone Announcement
On this occasion, for the first time since James II became the father of the "Old Pretender," there will be no representative of the people "in the proximity" of the delivery room.

It was popular suspicion that James' son was not royal, but a changeling, smuggled into the palace in a warming pan that started the custom.

This time the king's secretary simply will telephone home secretary James Chuter Ede, who in turn will phone the Lord Mayor of London. The Lord Mayor then will notify the dean of St. Paul's Cathedral.

St. Paul's dean will call out the members of the Antient Society of College Youths, an honorary group of veteran bell ringers who will peal the bells of the great cathedral in honor of the royal birth.

Other bells will peal from Westminster Abbey and in the cathedral towns of Canterbury and York.

The king's secretary also will cable the news to the heads of the seven dominions, touching off globe-circling countries.

41-Gun Salute

As the messages are flashed and throngs of Londoners clamor in front of Buckingham Palace for a glimpse of the new father, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, the guns of the Royal Army and Navy will be unlimbered.

Then 41-gun salutes will be fired on Tower Hill, in Hyde Park, at all the major army and navy shore establishments and on

Beck, Wilson And Reno To Be Tried Friday

Pleas of not guilty were entered by William Beck and Isadore Reno when they appeared before Judge W. G. Stephens in justice court Tuesday afternoon to answer charges of hunting with an artificial light. Almeda Wilson, who was also arrested with the pair did not appear but will be required to appear with them when they are brought to trial.

Judge Stephens set the time for trial at Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

The three men were arrested in the Blaney Park vicinity one night last week by Conservation Officer Harold Peters who alleges that he came upon them in a truck which was equipped with a moveable headlight and that he took from one of them a gun. A carcass of a deer, its head and front legs severed, was found near the scene where the arrest took place.

Beck and Reno were arrested a few weeks ago previous to this, charged with having two recently killed fawns in their possession. Reno absolved Beck of any blame and entered a guilty plea. He was fined $100 and costs.

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

It was about a week or ten days ago that we received a news tip to the effect that a certain well known merchant had been "pinched" for having a carcass of deer in his cold storage locker.

We followed up the tip but the conservation officers in these parts shook their heads. "News to me?" each one said. The rumor persisted, changing only in one respect—the amount of venison found in the refrigerator. We took it for what we believed it to be, "just one of those rumors." Then, one day, we were accosted by a certain party who happened to be in a far from joking mood. "What's the matter? Sold out to— (the fellow with the refrigerator?)"

"Has he been arrested?" we asked.

"That's for you to find out. I'm no news reporter. All I know is that I heard he had nine hind quarters of venison in his freezer."

We saw red. If any law officer was keeping that stuff from us, we'd like to know why. We called up Ernest Derwin, chief conservation officer in these parts. "What's the lowdown on this case of — and his locker full of venison?" we demanded. "I wish I knew," he answered. "People have been hounding me about the same thing. Anyway, we have found no refrigerator full of venison and have made no arrests. It's just another rumor like that cock-eyed one about someone finding the body of that man who was lost near Newberry.... they said he had a bullet wound in his head."

We both agreed that someone in Manistique is wasting his talents. He could, very easily, win the Pulitzer prize for fiction.

The Chicago fire of 1871 killed more than 200, made nearly 100,000 homeless, destroyed 17,450 buildings, and caused damage estimated at $200,000,000.

ROTES LEARN
ABOUT LEGIONTom Beaton Provides Convention Report

Rotarians obtained an excellent word picture of the recent national Legion convention and an idea of how thoroughly resolutions are scanned before they are rejected or approved was given by Tom Beaton in a talk before the club Monday noon.

The speaker said the Legion was not, in his opinion, a pressure group as it is sometimes called, for it is comprised of rich men, poor men and many of moderate circumstances and he then explained the machinery through which resolutions must pass before receiving approval of the national body to show that it would be impossible for a small group to pressure anything through the convention.

Anything which finally obtains the endorsement of the national department has without question the approval of the rank and file of the millions of veterans forming the Legion, he declared.

In connection with the department's approval of a resolution asking Congress for a veterans pension, Beaton said that the committee turned in an adverse report but a vote on the matter was forced on the floor and delegates present favored it.

He said many did not favor it personally because it would prove inflationary but voted on it as they had been instructed to do so.

He said that to favor it would also cause many persons to think that there would be press and radio criticism. A pension plan would cost the nation several billion dollars annually.

A vote of appreciation to Mr. Stupak for his services to the city was adopted by the commission.

Archie Cowen was appointed by the city commission to take Stupak's place on the governing body until the next regular city election. Stupak was elected last spring with Cowen placing next to him in the voting.

Stupak has removed from Gladstone to Milwaukee where he plans on entering the University of Marquette to study law.

A request was received to change the area between 11th street and the Soo Line right-of-way and 3rd and 4th avenues north from residential to business district and the matter was referred to the city manager and city attorney.

A resolution was adopted placing delinquent special assessments on the general tax rolls as debts against the real property involved.

An application for transfer of the Class C liquor license of Kamlie Ver Hamme to Edward and Mary Esler was approved.

Payment of bonuses to members of the boards serving on the last general election was approved. Chairmen will receive an additional four dollars while clerks will receive an additional $2.00 each. "It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Shhh! Don't let the boys up at Ishpeming or Iron Mountain hear about this. Come to think of it, you better not even breathe a word of it to Escanaba's own Johnny Grodeski, who has returned from his summer sojourn at Blaney Park.

They're ski jumping in the summertime in rugged old Finland now. Yeah! That's a fact. Heavy with the wax on the runway, and they're landing on straw on the lower part of the slope.

Twenty five experienced riders volunteered to try it on a "small" 200-foot hill at Lahti, Finland, and at last report they are all in good health. In fact, the first rider went 180 feet and the record for the day of trial—and what a trial it must have been—was 200 feet, only six feet short of the hill record.

The modest report from Lahti went like this: "The jumpers got good speed on the creased slide but met with abrupt resistance from the straw which caused some spectacular falls."

Now, take it easy, Johnny! We'll be getting snow any day now.

Bill Puckelwartz, of Escanaba, is reliving his football days in old Ann Arbor town these days. Everyone's jibing him about the sports note in Collier's about the "tongue-twister" at Michigan a couple of decades ago—Puckelwartz to Pomeroy to Oosterbaan, the most lyrical double-play combination of all time.

We learned from Jack Beck that five Escanaba Bear uniforms are still missing. After what happened to the Bears during football tournament time the last two seasons, our only comment is that the least the fellows could do is turn in their suits after the season is over.

It is encouraging to hear the Great Lakes conference is doing something about improving public address announcing at high school football games. Some sort of standard should be set throughout the U. P. to make it easier on the ears. Some P.A. work is pretty painful. There is a marked difference between P.A. work and radio broadcasting. The major fault of most P.A. announcers is this: They try to say too much—too much inconsequential stuff that is obvious to any spectator.

L. L. Harbeck and Thor Reque, of Manistique; Verner Johnson, of Newberry, and George Grenholm, of Escanaba, were among those attending the U. P. winter sports council meeting in Ishpeming. The following dates of winter events were submitted at the council meeting:

Jan. 9-13, Escanaba ice show; Jan. 27-30, Escanaba skating exhibition; Feb. 6, Manistique ski tournament; Feb. 7-12, Negaunee ice carnival; Feb. 9-13, Houghton winter carnival; Feb. 17-18, queen of the North carnival, Newberry; Feb. 20, Manistique ice carnival; Feb. 18-20, winter carnival and ski tournament, Ishpeming; Feb. 27, ski tournament Iron Mountain.

The Michigan-Ontario-Wisconsin Hockey league will operate as a five-team circuit this season. The league promises to be the strongest in years. . . . Marquette is the farm club for the Philadelphia Rockets. . . . Soo is greatly strengthened. . . . Eagle River and Calumet are packing their lineup with Canadian talent. . . . Portage Lake has already raised more than $1,000 to buy Tony Bukovich's Cleveland contract so that he can return to the Copper Country as playing-coach of the Portage Lake Pioneers.

The season opens with Marquette playing American Soo on the artificial ice at Pullar Stadium Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 11 and 12. . . . Hockey is a game with tremendous spectator appeal. . . . Leagues are mushrooming throughout the country. . . . The National Hockey league is having another banner attendance season. . . . We look forward to the day when hockey expands in this area. . . . A Green Bay-Marquette-Menominee-Escanaba league in this area would be a natural.

Escanaba's speed skaters will be interested in learning that the Great Lakes skating meet has been awarded to West Allis, Wis. . . . The meet will be held in January. . . . St. Paul will be host to the national outdoor meet Feb. 12-13 and Los Angeles has the national indoor March 13-14. . . . Detroit will be host to the North American indoor event and Oconomowoc is being considered for the North American outdoor.

Army Grinding Toward College Rushing Mark

New York, Nov. 10 (P)—Wars, they say, are won by the infantry. Army must figure the same is true of football games.

The power-minded Cadets, who have never yielded to the modern pass-happy trend, are grinding toward a new all-time collegiate record for advancing the ball by land.

In seven games they have rolled up a staggering total of 2,640 rushing yards—an average of 377.1 yards a game.

If this keeps up, the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau reminds us, the Black Knights of the Hudson are bound to wreck their own existing mark of 359.8 yards a game set in 1945 when Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were stopping all opposition.

Blanchard and Davis have a touchdown tandem counterpart on the present Army team in Gil Stephenson and Bobby Stuart, who are almost a cinch to shatter the ball-carrying records of the wartime duo.

Led by Stephenson and Stuart, unblemished Army smashed 525 yards over the ground last Saturday in beating Stanford, 43-0. It was the season's greatest display of power.

Should they win rushing offense honors this year it will mark the third time in five years the cadets have turned the trick. They were best on the ground also in 1944 and 1945.

Notre Dame is the only other team to take rushing honors more than once. The Irish were the nation's top powerhouse in 1943 and 1946. They are now in third place behind Army and Texas Mines, in rushing.

The cadets get a real test Saturday when they clash with Pennsylvania, the third best defensive team in the country. Nevada, although upset last week by Santa Clara, kept its long lead in two offensive departments—total offense and passing.

The Westerners have an overall total of 3,436 yards, an average of 490.9 yards a game. Army is second with a 456.4 average, followed by Notre Dame, which leaped from sixth place to third with 406.7.

The Irish offense also gets a chance to prove its mettle Saturday. The foe is Northwestern, an outstanding defensive bulwark. Nevada, paced by rifle-armed Stan Heath, has a 284.9-yard average in passing, followed by Tulsa with 173 and Georgia Tech with 168.4.

Injury Toll High In Hoosier Camp

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10 (P)—As it did last year, injury apparently is going to stamp out Indiana's chances, however small, of making much impression on unbeaten Michigan Saturday. Loss of Harry Jagade, 210-pound fullback from River Grove, Ill., can't help destroying much of the remaining balance in the Hoosier backfield. The husky senior suffered a shoulder separation in the 42-6 wallop by Notre Dame Saturday.

NHL Is Enjoying Another Banner Season At Gate

By Ralph Roden

Associated Press Sports Writer

The National Hockey league, although slightly behind its record pace of last year, is enjoying another banner season at the gate. Despite declines in New York, Boston and Chicago, the loop has drawn 305,982 fans in 23 games. Last season 307,801 customers saw the circuit's first 23 games. The difference of 1,819 is not causing the owners any loss of sleep.

The world champion Toronto Maple Leafs, currently in fourth place, are leading the way in crowd appeal, followed by the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings.

Toronto has drawn 69,382 fans to its first five games, an increase of 1,114 over last year. A total of 67,186 fans have witnessed Montreal's first six games, 255 above the number that took in the Canadiens' opening six contests last year. The Red Wings have lured 66,124 fans to their five home games, a jump of 2,415 over their figures at a similar stage last season.

With attendance expected to pick up in New York and Boston there's an excellent chance that the loop will crack its record 1947-48 turnout. Last year 2,518,042 fans witnessed the loop's 130 games, breaking the previous high of 2,403,110 set in the 1946-47 race.

EASY DOES IT—Six-foot eight-inch Easy Ed Macauley shows how simple it was for him to score 986 points throughout three seasons. The towering center will be shooting to add to that amazing total in his final campaign with St. Louis University.

Look Who's Leading Big 9 In Gaining! Minnesota Gophers

Chicago, Nov. 10 (P)—Minnesota, long noted for its power plays, has taken over as the top yard gaining team in the Big Nine primarily on its newly developed passing attack.

On total offense, the Gophers lead with an average gain per game of 307.2 yards. Top rushing team is Wisconsin with a 211.6 average. Michigan is ahead in passing yardage with 160.

Minnesota is second in passing with 138.4 and fourth in rushing with 168.6. The second best rushing team, with 195, is Ohio State. Ohio State is second to Minnesota on total offense with 255.8 followed by Michigan with 273.8, Wisconsin with 268.4 and Northwestern with 258.2.

The Gophers are averaging 69.6 plays per game of which 20.2 have been passes. Michigan is tops in yards gained per play with 4.54, followed by Minnesota with 4.41, Ohio State with 4.33 and Northwestern with 4.23.

The Big Nine's three leading teams compare this way on attack:

	Mich.	Minn.	NU
Yards per play	4.54	4.41	4.23
Yards per rush	2.79	3.42	3.88
Yards per pass	8.21	6.85	5.74

Michigan's Chuck Ortmann tops the individual statistics on total offense with 484 yards in 74 plays. The passing title is a three-way race among Ortmann, Illinois' Bernie Krueger and Minnesota's Ev Faunce. Ortmann holds the lead in 19 completions in 36 attempts for 371 yards.

Fullback Gasper Perricone of Northwestern has the best rushing average with 6.2 in 20 carries. The crown, however, finally goes to the back whose average and most total yards gained per game for the season are best. On this basis, Purdue's Harry Szulborski is making a strong bid with a 4.7 average on 91 trips, the most carries of any back.

Philadelphia Does Okeh After Taking 'T' From The Bears

Philadelphia, Nov. 10 (P)—A borrowed offense and an Army of friends searching for player talent have helped the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football league.

At least that's what Coach Earle (Greasy) Neale thinks. When Neale left Yale for a fling at football's golden circuit he trembled at the thought of teams like the Chicago Bears rolling up 30 or more points in a single quarter. His single-wing college teams seldom scored that many points in a whole game.

"I decided then," Neale told the Maxwell club yesterday "that the 'T' was the real formation," but lamented "I knew nothing about it."

So Neale, a former coach at Virginia and West Virginia, says he persuaded owner Alexis Thompson to buy a few reels of film of the Chicago Bears in action.

"For six months," said Neale, "I studied those films, learning the blocks and assignments even to such minute detail of how far Sid Luckman bent his knee when he was passing."

"I was ashamed of myself for stealing somebody else's offense," Thompson told the club yesterday. "Through 1940 and on until the end of the war we didn't do too well." Neale continued. "But I had a whole army of friends collecting data on college players throughout the country."

"One by one we got them. Steve Van Buren, Bosh Pritchard, Joe Muha, Al Wistert, Vic Lindskog and so forth. We kept improving but it was slow work." The Eagles last year copped the Eastern Division title, and are headed in that direction again this year.

Only 5 Lettermen At St. Joseph's; Opener Nov. 20

The St. Joseph's parochial school Trojan cagers, coached this season for the first time by Tom St. Germain, former Northern Michigan college basketball star, will open a 15-game schedule against Bark River-Harris on the Trojan court Saturday, Nov. 20.

The following Saturday, the Trojans will tangle with the Escanaba high school quintet on the St. Joe court in the Eskymos' season opener.

Only five lettermen greeted Coach St. Germain at the start of practice. They are Gerald Harris, Gerald Gleich, Ray Menard, Philip Legault and Jack Miron. Miron is the only six-footer on the squad. Menard is next in line at five feet 11 inches.

The Escanaba VFW has entered a team in the Northern Wisconsin Michigan Basketball league and will play its first exhibition game at Crystal Falls tomorrow night, it was announced this morning by Bill Koppes, the club's publicity chairman.

Roy Johnson, passing mainstay of the Delta Hardwares last season, will be manager and coach of the new NWM entry. The personnel of the VFW team consists largely of those who won the U. P. championship with the Hardwares last season.

Others on the squad are Jim Kessler, George Anderson, Frank Pryal, Don Lewis, Dale Heidenreich and the Zimmerman brothers, formerly of Nahma.

Biggie Munn Fights Overconfidence In Spartan Grid Camp

East Lansing, Nov. 10 (P)—The big problem now for Michigan State's Biggie Munn is fighting overconfidence among his football Spartans.

Michigan State hopes to avoid trouble during the three games left in the season but Munn is afraid his Spartans might become too cocky and then get knocked off some bleak Saturday afternoon.

But it's a pretty tough job for the coaches to convince the team they should approach any of the games left with fear and trembling. Iowa State and Washington State aren't likely to upset the East Lansingites, according to the dope. Santa Clara is the toughest opponent left and Michigan State has already shown little respect for western-style football.

Before the Marquette game, the theme was that this has been a traditionally tight battle, Michigan State won 47-0. Prior to the Oregon State game, the coaches were building up the west coast opponent.

"All they got out there is scenery," said one player in an aside after the lecture. MSC won 46-21. Iowa State has won four and lost four. Last week the Cyclones barely beat Drake 2-0. So you can hardly blame the Spartan players for figuring the Cyclones will be something of a breeze for them.

Voights Is Afraid Leahy Mighty Cross His Old Irish 'T'

Chicago, Nov. 10 (P)—Northwestern's Rose Bowl hopefuls think Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame may cross his "T" in Saturday's big football game and are preparing accordingly.

The once-beaten Wildcats are setting up defensive patterns in drills against the Irish mystery formation, the capital T.

The wily Leahy has unveiled it in only one contest thus far. That was against Purdue in the season's inaugural—the only game in which Notre Dame was extended before pulling out a 23-27 victory.

The capital T sends two quarterbacks directly behind the center. Only one, of course, takes the snap-back. They both turn, faking and feinting. The one with the ball—guess who?—can either hand it off to: 1. His quarterback partner; 2. Fullback John Paneli; 3. Halfback Red Sitko. Paneli, with an 8.6 rushing average, and Sitko with 6.3 are aligned behind the two quarterbacks.

Or, the fellow who takes the ball can fade for passing.

The two quarterbacks used in this maneuver are Frank Tripucka, the No. 1 signal-caller, who has pitched seven touchdown passes, and little-known Robert Allen Williams.

Doak Walker-Scott Duel Is Attraction

Fayetteville, Ark., Nov. 10 (P)—An individual duel between Doak Walker and Clyde (Smack-over) Scott will be the main attraction when Southern Methodist and Arkansas tangle here Saturday.

SMU is such a heavy favorite that the game itself could hardly be expected to attract a capacity crowd.

But the contest of Walker of SMU and Scott of Arkansas is very much in doubt.

That's why all reserved seats have been sold for weeks.

Scott is No. 1 in rushing, having gained 639 yards on 90 carries. The fleet, shifty razorback, who also won a name for himself as an Olympic hurdler, has the league's best total offense average per play—7.6 yards on his runs and the 37 passes he has tried. He isn't Arkansas' regular passer.

Walker, an All-America selection as a sophomore last year, tops the pass receivers and punters. He has caught 10 aeriels for 248 yards and has punted 20 times for an average of 41.9 yards. Both are excellent defensive players and dangerous kick returners.

Scribe Picks Illini To Beat Ohio State

By Charles Chamberlain
Chicago, Nov. 10 (P)—Giving the football wheel another whirl after hitting 100 per cent last week:

Notre Dame 28, Northwestern 14—Emil Sitko, who has a 6.3 yard average in 104 carries for the Irish, will be taped up like a mummy with bruised rib cartilages. . . . If he doesn't lose too much steam Notre Dame should rate a two touchdown edge. . . . The margin can be drawn as fine as that, using Sitko's availability as the measure.

The Irish, who have used their regulars sparingly, will unleash their full power and probably will need it to whip inspired Northwestern which has the Rose Bowl in mind. . . . The game marks the temporary end of a friendly football series between the two schools. . . . Thus, Notre Dame won't be afraid to tread lightly. . . . The Irish also would like to blast the Wildcats better than Michigan's 28-0 rout to gain in the national mythical championship race. . . .

Northwestern, with Don Burson's passing and the running of Frank Aschenbrenner, Art Murakowski and Gasper Perricone, will make a battle of it. . . . But the Big Niners will need breaks to win. . . .

Illinois 14, Ohio State 13—The rapidly-improving Illini are carrying out a "victory in November" theme and may hit their peak before a homecoming crowd. . . . Should be a vicious fight most of the way as they toy to hem in line-busting Joe Whisler and the tricky Jerry Krall. . . . Figure the tide will turn on Bernie Krueger's expert passing. . . .

Minnesota 25, Iowa 13—Billy Bye and Ev Faunce, working behind as tough a line as there is in the business, will keep the Gophers still hoping for a possible Rose Bowl chance. . . . There's a revenge motif, too. . . . Minnesota can't forget its 13-7 upset by the Hawkeyes last year in what figured to be a snap. . . .

Michigan 35, Indiana 6—The Hoosiers find themselves trapped between the best two teams in the country. . . . They were crunched 42-6 by Notre Dame last week. . . . And now comes Michigan aiming to outdo it. . . .

Purdue 19, Pittsburgh 7—Looks like the Boiler-makers' third win in eight games, although they were badly shaken up in their 34-7 loss to Minnesota.

Wisconsin 26, Marquette 6—After five successive defeats, the Badgers will want to pour it on their traditional state rival. . . .

Michigan State 21, Iowa State 0—The Spartans, playing one of the heaviest schedules in the country, should breeze through this well-deserved breather.

In Memoriam

CHOLGER — Henry Cholger. In memory of our dear father and grandfather who passed away four years ago today, Nov. 16, 1944. Remembrance is a golden chain. That binds us 'til we meet again. To have, to love, and then to part. Is the greatest sorrow of a heart. The years may wipe away many things. But this they wipe out never. The memory of those happy days. When we were all together.

Ankle Break Blamed On Plastic Helmet

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 10 (AP)—Informed that the broken ankle suffered by Ken O'Donnell, Harvard football player, resulted from contact with a plastic helmet, Athletic Director William J. Bingham today advised the Crimson coaching staff that such equipment would be illegal after the 1949 season.

Bingham, head of the Football Rules committee, said the group notified the manufacturers to cease making plastic helmets last year because of their hard and unyielding surfaces.

"When our committee meets again in January, I am going to remind the manufacturers that plastic helmets will not be permitted during the 1950 season," Bingham said. "All of the makers will have had time to dispose of all such stock by then."

The Princeton game films revealed that O'Donnell suffered his injury, which ended his intercollegiate football career, when tackled by two opponents after an off-tackle scam in the opening period.

End Who Figured In Tarheel Upset Lineman of Week

By Ted Meier

New York, Nov. 10 (AP)—Lou Hoitsma, William and Mary end, pulled a Bill Swiacki catch against North Carolina last Saturday. This feat brought him today the honor of being named the lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Football fans will remember it was Swiacki's great catch a year ago that brought Columbia a startling upset triumph over Army. Hoitsma's feat gave the underdog William and Mary team a surprise 7-7 tie with the previously unbeaten and untied Tarheels.

Hoitsma's remarkable catch came in the second period. Tommy Korczowski got off a long pass towards Hoitsma in the end zone. Two North Carolina players were guarding Hoitsma, but somehow he leaped up and snared the ball for a touchdown.

Shaky White House In Need Of Repairs; Piano Breaks Floor

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—That repair job on the White House apparently is coming none too soon.

Already labeled a shaky "fire trap," the 150-year-old executive mansion has yielded new evidence that it needs to be shored up.

Margaret Truman returned recently from a trip to find that one leg of the grand piano in her room had gone through the second floor.

The White House already has been closed to the public and repairs will start as soon as Congress puts up the money.

Barkley Confers With Truman At Florida Retreat

cy committee and the prospective new secretary of the Senate, talked only of fishing.

Picture of Comfort

Biffie arrived with Barkley on a Navy plane yesterday afternoon. They sped over to the president's quarters on the submarine base, perspiring in their fall clothes. The president was a picture of comfort in an Irish linen sports shirt, white shoes and cotton trousers.

Barkley admired the president's shirt, which, presented yesterday, fits him almost too well for comfort.

The president offered to lend one just like it to Barkley, but, patting the senator's ample stomach, appeared skeptical whether it would do.

Reporters, trying to learn about impending cabinet and other administrative changes, found Barkley no help, and Biffie even less so.

"I just came down for a rest," said Barkley. "I'm not talking politics."

But no one doubted that the course of future administration legislative proposals will be charted before he leaves Florida within a week or so.

Government Data Helps Unions In Pay Raise Drive

rendered. This led the bureau to observe that:

"Rising prices have more than offset the increases in gross weekly and hourly earnings. The consumers price (cost of living) index for moderate income families in large cities rose by about 35 per cent over the three-year period."

The bureau's figures show that wage rates increased 8.7 per cent between October, 1947, and September, 1948—a period in which the living cost index rose 6.5 per cent. Comparable figures for the same period were not given.

Overtime Cut Down

The bureau said there are several reasons why actual earnings don't show as much increase as the 43 per cent jump in wage rates.

One is that the employees are working fewer hours with less opportunity for such premium pay as overtime and night differentials. Hence although their straight-time rates have gone up they may receive less money than they were getting during the war.

Another reason is that a larger proportion of workers now are employed in the "generally lower-wage consumer goods industries," than in the former high-skill war work.

The government agency found that earnings in non-manufacturing industries have varied from those in factories. Hourly wages in retail trade rose 38 per cent in the three-year postwar period, but only 23 per cent in finance, insurance and real estate establishments, the bureau said.

Winning Democrats To Collect Plums, Ratify Appointees

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP)—The election gave thousands of federal jobholders a tighter grip on their jobs—but for some 900 of them it meant they'll get their jobs officially.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said today one of the first acts of the new Democratic-controlled Senate in January will be the speedy approval of all stalemated nominations.

Beginning early this year, the GOP-controlled 80th Congress refused to act on the huge batch of nominations sent to Capitol Hill by President Truman. Party leaders were confident that by doing nothing the plums would fall to Republicans under a Republican president.

But the Democratic victory at the polls last week assured the hundreds of anxious nominees their jobs are safe.

More than 700 of them are postmasters scattered throughout the country.

Strike at Chrysler Leaves 9,200 Idle In Detroit District

Detroit, Nov. 10 (AP)—An estimated 9,200 Chrysler Corp. employees in three plants were idled today in a dispute growing out of the disciplining of two men.

The company said 1,000 machine shop employees quit work at the Jefferson plant because the pair was disciplined for alleged failure to meet production standards.

As a result, the final assembly line at Jefferson was closed for lack of machine parts and an added 3,000 persons sent home. Final assembly at the DeSoto plant was halted and 1,200 employees laid off.

As bodies began to pile up at the Kercheval plant, the company sent 2,800 employees home from there.

About 500 workers in the Jefferson plant quit Tuesday in the same dispute.

Irate Parents Slow Traffic At Death Corner In Pontiac

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 10 (AP)—Indignant parents assumed jobs of unofficial traffic cops today on a busy state highway.

It was the result of the death of five-year-old Muriel Hernandez on "Orchard Lake Road," a state highway which runs past a school.

Muriel, who was dead, was hit by a truck. The driver told police he had vainly blown his horn.

A group of mothers and fathers, with the tacit approval of school officials, decided to direct traffic on the road. At the same time they demanded installation of a signal light by the state.

"Since when is speeding up traffic more important than children's lives?" said Monroe M. Osburn, president of the Pontiac board of education.

"We're going to camp right here until we get a traffic light," said Mrs. Charles A. Sanft, one of the volunteers.

The volunteers said they would be on duty at periods when children must cross the highway going to and from school.

Commission Ousts Manager At Alma For Playing Golf

Alma, Mich., Nov. 10 (AP)—The city commission voted three to one Tuesday night to try to oust City Manager William Lanterman.

Under a new city charter, Lanterman on Dec. 1 would take over a number of duties now held by Mayor Harold M. McClure and the city commission, including direction of the police department.

Five of Alma's seven policemen resigned several days ago, charging that they were forced to be "stooges in blue uniforms." They said they were unable to make arrests without permission of "higher ups."

Mayor McClure, an oil man, asked for Lanterman's removal. He made no specific charges against the city manager but said that, under the new charter, "we should have a capable city manager to run the $225,000 city business."

Lanterman said McClure privately had criticized him for taking an afternoon off each week during the summer to play golf.
